

ain St.

CENTRAL SKATING RINK,
TO-NIGHT,
Prize, Pair Fine Club Skates.
FIRST-CLASS MUSIC.

Fourth Annual Ball!

Given by the Dayton Police Benevolent Association, at Gebhart's Opera House, Wednesday evening, February 16th. Music by the 4th Regiment, O. N. G. Orchestra. Tickets $1, to be had of the Committee and members. No improper characters admitted.

GO TO GEBHART'S HALL
ROLLER SKATING RINK
TO-NIGHT,
FOR FUN!

Gibbons & McCormick—Practical Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters, No. 20 N. Jefferson St. An elegant line of Chandeliers and Drop Lights now on hand. feb10ThS&Tu-1y

PHILLIPS HALL RINK
open this afternoon and evening.
Free admission afternoons.
Skates 10c. feb14d6t

A MILE RACE AT PHILLIPS HALL RINK,
TO-NIGHT.
GO SEE IT.

Just received, one car Choice Lake Shore Apples in bulk, at Bradstreet & Son's, 21 East Fourth street.

ANTHRACITE COAL.

We have a full supply of the best Anthracite Coal that ever come to this city. Try a ton.

skating rink and similar purposes. Mr. Reibold has recently returned from Chicago where he examined the rinks there and received the latest ideas respecting them.

Society circles are excited over reports of weddings that are to come off the present spring and summer. Three young ladies of the First Presbyterian Church are to be brides, and one of the young ladies of the Second Presbyterian Church. A Third Street Church bachelor is to marry a "school marm," and an old school bachelor is going a little east for his bride—going to Church for her.

Charles J. Engle died on the 12th of February, at the residence of his son Frank, on Howard street, at the age of 83. Mr. Engle was born in Germany, married in 1817, and emigrated to America in 1845 with his wife and family, consisting of five girls and five boys. After landing in New York he drifted to Lancaster, O., and finally came to Dayton in 1847, where he has lived ever since. He leaves a wife 82 years old and nearly blind, 38 grandchildren and 17 great-grand-children.

The case of A. Shroder, charged with grand larceny, was on trial before Judge Elliott yesterday. The charge is stealing some clothing of Harvey Greble at the Baker House last November, where Shroder was boarding at the time. The clothing was shown to the jury, and the State called one-half the tailors in the city to testify to their value, and the defense called the other half. The estimates were variously from $20 to $35, the object being to show whether the theft was grand larceny. There were twenty-two tailors present, which, according to a popular estimate, would make two very big men.

Personal Jottings.

The President pardoned Ashley Brown

Beyerlein was a man aged twenty-five, single, and probably of dissolute habits. He was a relative by marriage to Michael Weidner, the Fifth street baker, of whom he had obtained about $70, in money and other assistance. At one time, it is said, that Weidner refused to do anything for him if he did not mend his ways, and that he occasionally grew despondent over his prospects.

In his pocket was found a letter addressed to Weidner, written in German, which, in effect stated that unless he received help from him (Weidner) he could not live longer. In another pocket was found a small quantity of white powder, which the Coroner has in his possession, but has made no analyzation of it. The Coroner is of the opinion that it is a case of suicide, and the circumstances all point in that direction.

The body of Beyerlein was taken to the undertaking establishment of Betzwieser, on Fifth street, where it now lies.

At ten o'clock last night a JOURNAL reporter called on Mr. Weidner and his wife, and procured their statement and a copy of the letter referred to. Beyerlein has been in this country about a year, his uncle furnishing him the money to come over to America, and keeping him while he was here until a short time ago, when he told him that he did not want him about any longer unless he reformed. Some time ago young Beyerlein consulted a female fortune teller, as he mentions in his rather incoherent letter, and her predictions were such as discouraged him and rendered him very despondent.

The following is a verbatim translation of the letter, which indicates Beyerlein's intentions on his own life:

DAYTON, February 12th.

DEAR UNCLE AND AUNT: I must ask

Better
nts to
sers

ING

er house

The

k hav-

en

OWN

ties into discover
stream
near th
alarm b
the da
little s
and
The
mediat
At this widen
directe
and th
pected
permi
this ti
torren
of v furiou
first b
break
was quick
most
felt f
the b
caus
grou
the
thay
cons
pose
side
rip-
fros
stor
thro
It
diss
trop
the
gal
bee
the